IT'S TIME TO CLEAN OUT YOUR RAINWATER SYSTEM!

MONITORING AND MAINTENANCE OF RAINWATER SYSTEMS.

Trimming Trees / Removing Vegetation

Cut back trees to remove dropping or dying leaves, and trim away branches that could be potential roosting points for birds or provide access for small animals and unwanted visitors.

Keep Vermin and Pests Away

Take precautions to deter small animals and birds away from entering the tank. This will help avoid direct contamination from faeces or the animal itself, and keep in mind sometimes animals or vermin can become trapped and drown in tanks.

Prevent Debris In Your Tank

Use leaf & rubbish diverters to protect inlets to rainwater tanks. Keep foliage and debris clear from your pipes to avoid clogging, blockages, rotting leaves and tannin leaching.

Clean Regularly

Examine tanks for accumulated sludge on the floor of the tank at least every 2 years. Sludge can be removed by completely emptying and rinsing the tank or via siphoning.

Keeping Gutters Clean

Debris, leaves, moss and lichen should be kept clear from gutters. Gutter mesh is a simple way to avoid this and can be installed to keep vegetation and pests out.

Filter System Maintenance

Once your filter is full of contaminants water will struggle to get through and what does may not be filtered effectively. If you are using an ultraviolet system, the lamp also needs to be replaced every 12 months to guarantee effectiveness.
